

Depth of space

dr. petr simeon gajdos

The deeper you dive into voidness of the night the more spacious it becomes. At the certain point, you realise there is no further or deeper way to go. You simply reach the utmost quality of immense depth, recognising you are that space. You merge yourself with the all-pervading depth of space and become one as the wave merges back into the depth of ocean.